

CAPS FOR CANCER RESEARCH

April 1, 2006 - Newsletter N° 59

Cap from Belgium

The objective of C4CR is to gather 10.000 different beer caps, which will then be sold to a beer museum, with 100% of the proceeds being donated to a Cancer Research Foundation.

Thank you to all of our friends around the world for helping us with this worthy project.

Well, back in issue N°12 of your favourite newsletter, we tried to fool you by displaying caps representing various world locations that were not produced where they seemed to be. Once again, we wanted to repeat this feat for your greatest enjoyment, but unfortunately, a malicious virus infected my PC just today on April fool's day... The worse is: no twaddle here, as Damien D. who's kindly coming to my rescue to help clean this mess, can attest. So here are again the same caps, displayed back on March 28th, 2004, from Argentina, Belgium, Canada, Estonia, France, Germany, Italy, Mexico, Paraguay, Poland, the Russian Federation, Sweden, the United Kingdom and the USA. Can you (re-)guess where each really comes from?

• Beer joke

Two Irishmen, Patrick and Michael, were adrift in a lifeboat following a dramatic escape from a burning freighter. While rummaging through the boat's provisions, Patrick stumbled across an old lamp. Secretly hoping that a genie would appear, he rubbed the lamp vigorously. To the amazement of Patrick, a genie came forth. This particular genie, however, stated that he could only deliver one wish, not the standard three. Without giving much thought to the matter, Patrick blurted out: "Make the entire ocean into Guinness Beer!"

The genie clapped his hands with a deafening crash, and immediately the entire sea turned into the finest brew ever sampled by mortals (if your name is Patrick or Michael, that is). Simultaneously, the genie vanished. Only the gentle lapping of Guinness on the hull broke the stillness as the two men considered their circumstances. Michael looked disgustedly at Patrick whose wish had been granted. After a long, tension-filled moment, he spoke: "Nice going Patrick! Now we're going to have to pee in the boat!"

Poisson d'avril!
Please tell C4CR about
the elusive beer caps
that got away...
